SUNBONNET OBSTRUCTS VIEW AND CAR STRIKES WEARER.

Mrs. Alice Anderson, Injured at Fifteenth and Washington Avenue, Dies at the City Hospital.

Mrs. Alice Anderson, 56 years old, of No. 1123 Washington avenue, died last night at the City Hospital at 7:10 from injuries which she sustained from being struck by a Delmar avenue street car shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

A sunbonnet worn by Mrs. Anderson at the time of the accident, covering both eyes and ears, probably was the cause of her death. She had just left her boarding-house at the above number and was in the act of crossing the street when the car struck her. The motorcar, witnesses say, rang the bell in time to have prevented the accident had Mrs. Anderson heard the warning.

It is thought the sunbonnet obstructed her view and also prevented her from hearing the motorcar's gong.

Mrs. Anderson had reached the corner last night when she was struck by the car and was thrown clear of the car and was unconscious for some time. She died without regaining consciousness.

Mrs. Anderson was a cook and boarded with Mrs. Nellie L. Jones, who had lived at No. 1123 Washington avenue only two and a half months. She was retired and retiring and little was known about her by her landlady or fellow-boarders.

GIRL CAME FROM BOHEMIA TO WED.

Franciska Senar, Found Weeping on Doorstep, Meets Brother and Fiance.

JOYFUL REUNION FOLLOWS.

Introduction Arranged Through Mails by Relatives, and Engagement Follows Exchange of Photographs.

Franciska Senar, who was found weeping on the doorstep of the Stoltz home at Belleville Thursday night, and who was given shelter there until her relatives at New Baden could be notified, came to this country to wed John Beyer, a coal miner, who lives at the Senar home at West Baden. There was a misunderstanding about the time she was to arrive, and she was not expected for another week.

Her father met her for the first time at the Stoltz home, where they were introduced by Aloys Senar, the girl's brother. Their courtship had been carried on by means of the mail and the exchange of photographs.

Miss Senar is an orphan. Her brother left Bohemia seven years ago, coming to this country, where he secured employment as a coal miner, settling at New Baden. He then sent for his wife and children. John Beyer, miner, came to board with the Senars, and often he would talk of his loneliness and how he would give anything to be married. Then it was that Senar in a joke spoke about having a sister in Bohemia.

An introduction was arranged through the mails, the photographs were exchanged and the couple began their love-making at long distance.

They finally became engaged and Beyer sent money for her transportation to Belleville, where he expected to meet her. Through some misunderstanding, she started a week earlier than was expected, and arriving in Belleville found no one to meet her.

When the Senars were notified they drove to Belleville with Beyer and a joyful reunion resulted between sister and brother, who had not met for seven years. Then Beyer was introduced and the party enjoyed a dinner at the Stoltz home, after which they departed for New Baden. The wedding will soon take place.

POLICEMAN FIGHTS DUEL IN DARK WITH TWO MEN.

Philip Kraemer's Helmet Is Pierced With a Bullet and Running Battle Enues.

Policeman Philip Kraemer of East St. Louis, fought a pistol duel with two men, one of whom had first fired a bullet through his helmet, just missing the top of his head Friday night. The shooting occurred near Lindbergh street, just west of the city limits.

Policeman Kraemer approached two men who were lurking in the shadow of a tree, and asked them who they were. They replied that they were butchers, and when he asked them where they were going they told him to Collinsville. At the same time, Policeman Kraemer says, one of the men drew a revolver and fired point blank at his head. The bullet tore a big hole through the officer's helmet, just missing the top of his head.

The policeman's forehead was powdered by the shot, and the shock of the shot caused him to stagger. The men turned and ran. Kraemer fired several shots at them, which were returned, but it is not believed that he struck either, as no trace of blood was found.

Frederick Brinkmeyer, 60 years old, was mangled to death under the wheels of a train of cars at the intersection of Hall and Buchanan streets last night, about 10 o'clock.

ARBITRATION BOARD HEARS COMPLAINTS OF WORKMEN.

Will Investigate Controversy With Employers Relative to Building Grandtold Walks at Fair.

The State Board of Arbitration is sitting at the Press Building on the World's Fair site to hear the controversy between trades unions and some of the general contractors of work at the Exposition. The session began yesterday and will be resumed to-morrow.

Members of the board attending the session are James Todd, chairman, Marysville, Mo., who is supposed to be the neutral member; T. M. Jenkins, general manager of the Suburban railway, St. Louis, who represents employers; and Fred A. Allen of the Kansas City Star, a member of the Typographical Union, who represents labor. The Secretary is Henry F. Childers of Troy, Mo.

The board has been requested to investigate the controversy between the grandtold workers and the plasterers' unions, involving also the carpenters. The question to be arbitrated is who is most entitled to perform particular kinds of work on the casework at the Exposition.

The carpenters are engaged in fitting the moldings and the rising of the casework. The grandtold workers believe that this is part of their work, and as the making of the casework is a continuation of cement and sand application, the plasterers believe this part of the work belongs to them.

Metal lath must be used in a part of the work, and this application involves the metal workers. The plasterers have made demand on the contractors to permit them to perform their part of the work. The contractors have refused to stop the grandtold workers who are engaged in doing the work. Out of sympathy for the plasterers, the carpenters and the metal workers have struck.

ACCIDENTAL SHOT WOUNDS A CALLER.

Mrs. Madge Reed Warren of St. Louis Injures Richard Hudson at Hospital in Lexington, Ky.

STRICT SECRECY ATTEMPTED.

Victim's Statement That He Shot Himself, He Declares, Was Made to Shield the Woman.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Lexington, Ky., July 18.—Richard Hudson, 28 years of age, lies at St. Joseph's Hospital in this city at the point of death from a pistol wound inflicted by Mrs. Madge Reed Warren at a late hour last night.

The affair has leaked out despite every effort to silence it, and has created something of a sensation on account of the prominence of the persons implicated.

The facts are given out by Mrs. Warren's family and are substantially as follows: Richard Hudson is a young man from Orlando, Fla., who formerly lived here, and who has visited here occasionally since he went to Florida. He came here Thursday night from Louisville.

Mrs. Warren is the wife of a St. Louisan and a daughter of Mr. O. Reed of this city. She has been at St. Joseph's Hospital for two weeks on account of ill health.

Mr. Hudson was a friend of Mrs. Warren and had been to the hospital to see her last night, with Mrs. Warren's sisters, and had brought her a small 22-caliber revolver to exchange for a larger pistol which she had at her father's home.

Mr. Hudson was to have returned to Florida to-day, and Mrs. Warren had written a note to some friends there, which Mr. Hudson was to deliver.

Mr. Hudson and Mrs. Warren's sisters left the room about 10 o'clock, and shortly afterwards Mr. Hudson returned for the note written by Mrs. Warren, which he had forgotten. He found Mrs. Warren seated on the side of the bed with the revolver in her hands, trying to snap it.

Hudson sat down in a chair opposite her when the weapon was discharged and he was struck by the bullet. Mrs. Warren claims that the shooting was entirely accidental, and that she had no idea that the revolver was loaded, and according to the statements made by the members of the family her story is the same as told by Mr. Hudson.

Mr. Hudson made the statement last night that he had shot himself.

He declared to-day that he made the statement for the purpose of shielding Mrs. Warren from any blame in the matter. It is thought Hudson will recover.

He is a brother of Mrs. John B. Milward of this city. Both are of excellent family and highly connected. Mrs. Warren as a girl was one of the belles of Central Kentucky. She is highly esteemed and respected, and her many friends regret the unfortunate occurrence.

REPORT ON BRIDGE MATTER FORWARDED TO WASHINGTON.

Result of Investigation Fully Stated in Document Sent by Major Thomas L. Casey.

The report of Major Thomas L. Casey of the United States Engineers, on the charges preferred against the Tenth district of the Engineers, and the report of the Merchants' and Eads bridges was forwarded to Washington yesterday.

It is claimed that the Merchants' bridge has forfeited its charter by having stockholders, officers and directors in the Eads bridge, thereby in effect creating a monopoly of the river traffic.

Major Casey has interviewed a number of persons who are said to have an interest in both bridges, but it is understood that he has reported that he can find no evidence to substantiate the charges.

General Gillespie, who will consult the Attorney General in regard to further steps if it is decided to take further steps in the matter.
